13.08.350 Green space allowance.

During the period of May through October meter readings, water used by residential customers for sprinkling and irrigation purposes will not be billed a sewer charge. All other customers with green space will not be billed a sewer charge if they make application with the utility and satisfactorily demonstrate that the water they use in excess of their average for the months of December, January and February is used exclusively for sprinkling and irrigation purposes. If such application is not approved, the customer will be billed for all sewer charges. Winter averages for those customers not served by the utility during the months of December, January, and February will be set per household size as listed in the rate resolution. Multifamily winter averages will be maintained from the prior winter, in case of new owner(s), unless a change of use occurs. (Ord. 611 § 11, 1998; Ord. 585 § 11, 1995)

For non-residential customers where routine averaging does not apply, the allowance shall be estimated by the utility based upon an approximation of qualifying area and a volume allowance, not to exceed two gallons per square foot per month.

The volume of water allotted monthly for green space shall establish a minimum volume charged for sewer in each of the months May through October; within this period when water use is less than the minimum, all water usage volume shall be charged for sewer; within this period when water use exceeds the minimum, the minimum volume shall be charged for sewer. The allowance shall continue provided that the green space appearance evidences the use of irrigation water and other maintenance efforts. (Ord. 654 § 1(part), 2004)
